LUSCAR MEETS "MINTOS"

Saskatchewan and Alberta Champs To-Night at Prince Albert. Canadians Battled Every Inch to Win; Lose By Barest Margin. Given Enthusiastic Welcome Home After Ten Days Absence, Completing Brilliant Season of Play

To have the lead in the third period, and the senior provincial championship almost in the bag, then to lose it by one goal, such were the fortunes of war which Coleman's valiant team suffered in the third game at Calgary on Tuesday evening. Not since the days when Coleman's famous "Tigers" carried the championship series to Winnipeg in 1924-5 season had Canadians come so close to winning the provincial title, and though thousands of supporters in southern Alberta felt that it was all over but the cheering when Coleman led in the third period, the same uncertainty that governs a horse race was exemplified when with only seven minutes to finish the game, Luscar tied and then with two minutes to go banged home the one goal which clinched the championship and the right to meet the champions of Saskatchewan, Prince Albert "Mintos."

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

March 17, next Tuesday, various social events are being held of which readers are reminded by display advertisements in this paper.

MIS-SPELT WORD COMPETITION

The intentionally mis-spelt word in last week's Journal was Alymer (correctly spelled Aylmer) in the advertisement of Coleman Cash Grocery. It apparently escaped the searching glances of those who sent in replies for the one dollar prize.

Several sent in the word "Spred" in the special ad. of Ledieu's store for Cheese Week, but this is a trade name and is printed that way on all advertising matter.

Another contestant picked out the word "Bartlett" (correctly spelled Bartlett) in the Co-operative Store ad. As no contestant picked out the intentionally mis-spelt word, The Journal is awarding the prize to the contestant who picked out the unintentionally mis-spelt word, (Bartlett) and the one dollar goes to T. W. Williams, if she will call at the office and receive same.

Watch next week's issue for another mis-spelt word, in the advertisements.

Many and varied were the opinions of Colemansites who saw Saturday's game between Luscar and Coleman at Calgary. Some thought Coleman were lacking in finish when playing on their opponents' goal, others thought Coleman had the edge in territorial play and that it was only by Coleman players being penalized that Luscar gained a temporary advantage. Harry Scott, sports commentator of a Calgary newspaper, places the blame for Luscar scoring on Scodarello, which is a disappointment, as never has Coleman had such a star performer in goal. One fellow's opinion is just about as good as another's, it appears; you can just take your choice and be as near right as anyone else. The only thing that decides which is the better team is "who scored the goals!"

New Business In Coleman

The Knapman Heating & Plumbing, long established in Blairmore, which firm has handled many contracts during the 20 years of its history in the Crow's Nest Pass, is opening a branch in Coleman, and the new store immediately north of the C. P. R. station will likely open this week.

Mr. Knapman, proprietor, extends an invitation to the public to call as soon as the store is open for business.

WHO ARE THEY?

Here is an interesting photograph taken a few years ago, and the four young people were at that time a prize-winning class of violinists taught by W. J. Harris, now of Blairmore, whose pupils were awarded a large percentage of honors in Conservatory examinations.

They will be recognized as John Petruszko, still a student of Coleman high school; Olga Belovich, also attending high school; Elizabeth Moores, who will commence training in Calgary General Hospital in April; and Alfred Moores, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Moores, now living at Creston. His father was mayor of Coleman several years ago.

FREE SHOW COMMUNITY HALL THIS EVENING

This afternoon and evening (Thursday) Crow's Nest Pass Motors will hold a free talking picture show for school children at 4.15 p.m. and for adults and children at 8 p.m., details of which are stated in display advt.

Many Breaks in Water Pipes

Never has there been such damage to the water pipes and mains as this year. Breaks in various parts of the system are keeping men busy digging and repairing broken pipes, while the thawing machines have been continually at work. In an effort to keep running water in the home, more is running away by leaving taps open than is being used, throwing a heavy strain on the pumping machinery.

Big Payments Life Insurance

The annual statement of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. in this issue will interest many policyholders in this district. There are many carrying policies on themselves and children in this company, for which Mr. J. H. Peel, of Blairmore, is the local representative. The company has paid an average of 2,280 claims every day.

In Memoriam

GREENHALGH—In loving memory of our dear son, Fred Greenhalgh, who passed away March 13th, 1934. Gone from us, but leaving memories Death can never take away, Memories that will always linger While upon this earth we stay. 'Tis sweet to know we'll meet again Where partings are no more, And that the one we loved so well Has only gone before.
—Father and Mother.

IN MEMORIAM

IN LOVING MEMORY of Freddie Greenhalgh, who died March 13, 1934. He had a nature you could not help loving And a heart that was purer than gold; And to those who knew him and loved him, His memory will never grow cold. —Ever remembered by Mr. and Mrs. William Fraser.

Schools Receive Big Boost for Moving Picture Machine Fund. Another Concert By Public Schools in April

The Romilly Boy Singers will play a return engagement here on Tuesday March 31. Mr. Victor Desautels, manager, would appreciate it if Welsh people would kindly accommodate the boys during their stay here. They will arrive from the west on the afternoon train, leaving the next day.

High School Pupils Have Concert

To Raise Funds Towards Purchase of Moving Picture Machine for Schools Use

A delightful program of 20 numbers, including songs, orchestral selections and sketches, was given by high school students on Friday evening in the Community hall. The parents generously responded to the appeal to purchase tickets, with novel way in which to raise the result that there were about money towards the moving picture machine to be purchased number who had bought tickets for use in the schools. The children were not present.

School Children's Handiwork

Miss Ethel Wilson's class of 20 generously responded to the appeal to purchase tickets, with novel way in which to raise the result that there were about money towards the moving picture machine to be purchased number who had bought tickets for use in the schools. The children were not present. Principal Hoyle thanked the Krzwy and Miss Wilson in the people for their response. The making of miniature furniture pupils had a dance at the consents, and on Friday afternoon an exhibition open to parents. In April the public school was held. The sets were on children will put on a concert for sale at 50c each, and Miss Wilson stated they had raised $20 by this method. Each child made a kitchen set or a living-room suite, for which they received praise from the visitors.

Andy Makes A Record

On Monday at the Bowldrome Andrew Dow in three straight games of ten pins made record scores of 245, 235 and 214, a total of 694. This is exceptionally good bowling, and will take some beating by the local bowlers. On Tuesday he scored 214 and 221 in two games.

Education For Adults

To the testimony of others no less an authority than Dr. Walter C. Murray, president of the University of Saskatchewan recently added his opinion that there is a wide open field for educational facilities for adults and while he referred to conditions which he resides and teaches his assertion is equally applicable to the situation in the other prairie provinces.

While Dr. Murray pointed out that the development of his "unexplored field" is prevented at the present time for lack of finances he noted one very encouraging feature and that is that there is "a growing feeling of the need of education for themselves among the adults themselves."

The statement that this is an encouraging feature of the situation is no doubt inspired by the belief that if adults themselves realize the need the problem is already partially solved, for the desire will presently be followed by a more or less insistent demand and once this demand becomes sufficiently strong some way will assuredly be found to cater to the need.

This renaissance in embryo, this dawning desire on the part of adults for greater educational facilities may be ascribed to a number of causes. One of them is a growing fear lest in the world of rapidly changing conditions they may lag behind the growing consciousness of superior mentality on the part of the younger generation.

During the depression period of the past few years the difficulty experienced by the rising generation of securing suitable employment, or even of any work at all, has resulted in a large number of the youth of both sexes remaining in school longer than, for many of them, would ordinarily have been the case. Many who would have gone out to work when they had completed a public school course or one or two years in high school, have completed high school training and gone on to University or taken post graduate courses in technical schools or other institutions, partly because they themselves sensed that when commercial and economic conditions improve they will be the better fitted for the keen struggle in competition for the work that then offers which is bound to ensue and partly because parents have felt that it is better that their offspring should spend this hiatus in improving their minds than in enforced idleness.

As a result many parents have discovered that their children are better trained and better mentally equipped than they are themselves, despite the years of experience they have had in the school of hard knocks. They have discovered that their children are able to handle with ease problems which they can only solve with painful effort and then, perhaps with much less adequacy. They have discovered that their children have learned to apply scientific methods with success in solving their problems and have had the chagrin to discover that their own "will to do," backed by years of experience has frequently failed to measure up in comparison with the more up-to-date methods of the juveniles.

Another cause of this stirring of a latent desire for more education may also be attributed to a substantial increase in the practice of reading of books and magazine and newspaper articles and more particularly on more serious subjects. This increase in reading can be traced to a desire to better understand the difficulties with which the world in general has been confronted in recent years and a hope through these channels to find some practicable solutions.

Now it is a sine qua non that the practice of reading inevitably leads about a revelation that the reader after all knows comparatively little and creates a thirst for more knowledge and more information. In this respect it is akin in its operation to the use of habit forming drugs which lacks the evil results of indulgence in narcotics. In fact, it has just the opposite effect, that of permanent stimulation. The natural sequence is a desire for the aid which the younger people are receiving in their institutions.

In schools and colleges and other educational institutions of the present day the whole aim of the courses is not to cram the students with a miscellany of facts, but rather to guide them in the selection of studies which may be of value to them and to train them to reach their own conclusions from the work they have undertaken. This is the true function of education. The more adult population appreciates this fact in the light of the demonstration which is being given them by the younger generation and are becoming increasingly anxious for similar opportunities.

Just Forgot To Stop

Japanese Train Crew Penalized For Passing Important Station

Two minutes late, an express train thundered through the station of Shimizu, Japan, one of the most important stops on the line, and left the station staff and prospective passengers astounded. The station master put in a hurry call to Okitsu, the next station, and the train was stopped. Passengers for Shimizu were taken back by automobile. The train crew said they merely forgot to stop. They were penalized for negligence.

Seaplanes Being Built

Twenty-Nine Now Under Construction For Imperial Airways

Twenty-nine seaplanes, destined for eventual use on the Canada-Great Britain and other Imperial airlines, are said to be under construction at aeroplanes factories at Rochester. The planes are being constructed as part of a comprehensive plan to establish a network of air routes covering the entire British Empire. Only British planes eventually would be permitted to fly over British territory. The new planes are described as capable of carrying three and one-half tons. With a somewhat reduced load, they have a cruising range of 1,500 miles.

Mind Should Be Exercised

Lady Tweedsmuir In Broadcast Urges People To Think

Lady Tweedsmuir speaking at the opening ceremonies of national education week, admitted that as a child she was poor at arithmetic, a "difficult and distressful problem."

"In the modern world where conditions are changing with such lightning rapidity," she said, "it is vital that we all set our minds to devising a system of education at once elastic enough to meet our needs and strong enough to stand the strain of the ever-changing conditions of the 1930's."

After outlining her idea of education which included the three R's and A G, geography, Lady Tweedsmuir mentioned mechanical advantages accorded the modern child over those of his predecessors, but added:

"To stare stupidly at the movies and listen unintelligently to the radio is not going to help people to have minds that work for themselves. One of the curses of modern life is a tendency to smatter and never go deeply into anything. The mind may become boneless and flabby because it has never used its mental muscles and its sinews."

A Real Spender

Maharajah Bought Four Carloads Of Souvenirs In London

When the Maharajah of Bhavnagar left London after his recent visit, the 24-year-old ruler of half a million people took home four carloads of souvenirs. He went to England with his wife, their two little sons, his two brothers, and a retinue of servants for a seven-week vacation. During that time he staggered shopkeepers by the magnitude of his purchases. It took a signwriter three days to paint the addresses on the 150 crates containing the Maharajah's shopping. Dogs, sporting guns, furnishing fabrics, specially made cutlery, toys, clothing and a $5,000 automobile were on his list. Incubators for rearing chickens, apparatus for taking and exhibiting talking pictures, and kitchen utensils were other items.

Letters Are Returned

Man Receives Three Out Of Five Thrown From Ships

Leo Buring of Sydney, Australia, has just received the third letter of five he had "mailed" in bottles from ships in the Pacific Ocean months ago. One bottle, thrown overboard near the Tongan Isles was found, five months later, on the Filian shore 500 miles away. In bottles from 600 miles to the North Queensland coast. The third was thrown overboard near Pago Pago. This drifted to the Gilbert Islands and was found by a native who broke it, spent the six cents placed in the envelope for postage, on tea and bread, and tucked the letter, which he could not read, in his belt. There it was noticed by the captain of a trading schooner, who sent it back to Buring.

Photographing Rare Books

Thought To Be Best Method Of Preserving Records

Cameras now are making "page movies" of rare books and ancient newspapers in the New York public library.

Although the photostat division is handling an increasing number of orders annually, the page movies, by their compactness and comparative inexpensiveness, are regarded by librarians as the best method of preserving records of printed matter. The page movies are recorded on neat little rolls of 35-millimeter film. They can be stored in about two per cent. of the space required for the original.

Palace May Be Modernized

King Would Like Swimming Pool And Squash Court

Buckingham palace may be fitted up with a swimming pool and a squash court. The new king is a keen squash enthusiast and when he lived in London as Prince of Wales he had a swim nearly every morning at a well known sporting club. Stately old Buckingham palace will probably be altered in many ways to suit the modern tastes of Edward VIII. and it is known the swimming pool and squash court are under consideration.

Live Stock Value

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimate the value of horses, cattle, sheep and swine in Saskatchewan during 1935 at $86,360,000. The value of farm poultry in this province also shows considerable increase over 1934 having reached the sum of $5,299,000.

Carried By White Men

Tuberculosis Is Increasing Among Eskimos In Arctic Regions

It is reported from Montreal by way of London that two scientists of that city having spent some weeks in the study of health conditions among the Eskimos in the Eastern Arctic regions, discovered that tuberculosis is rapidly increasing among them, but that it is through contact with white men. The presence of common colds among the natives is "almost inevitable after the arrival of a ship." Infection from influenza is known to have wiped out small Eskimo communities.

On the other hand, it is stated that natives of these regions never succumb to cancer or diabetes, and while unable to resist infection from colds the Eskimos can stand extreme fatigue and extremely cold temperatures. The healthiest groups were found where the inhabitants wore native clothes and were unable to obtain much of white man's food.

Extensive and protracted studies in that frigid area might be helpful to us in fighting diseases that are so prevalent in temperate regions, through the discovery of what possible inducing causes are prevalent here that are lacking there. The brief observation of these two scientists but calls attention to what should be further pursued.—New York Times.

Must Be Nice Song

Budapest Police Say "Gloomy Sunday" Caused Many Suicides

Budapest police have branded the song, "Gloomy Sunday," public menace No. 1 and asked all musicians and orchestras to co-operate in suppressing it, it is reported.

To its gloomy strains, the police attribute 18 suicides. The 18th, which moved the police to action, was Joseph Keller, a shoemaker. In a note to police he asked them to take over his grave 100 of the roses mentioned in the song.

Two other persons shot themselves while gypsies played the melancholy notes on violins as only Hungarian gypsies can. Some killed themselves while listening to it on a gramophone record in their homes. Two housemaids cut their employers' linens and paintings and then killed themselves after hearing the song drifting up into the servants' hall from dinner parties.

World's Fastest Express

Accelerates To 100 Miles Per Hour Within Six Minutes

An express train which attains a maximum speed of 110 miles per hour with four coaches has been taken over by the Reich Railroad Co. The train, said to be the fastest in the world, has a total weight of 125 tons, and is streamlined throughout.

The acceleration of the new express steam locomotive is terrific; a speed of 100 miles per hour is reached within six minutes. The train can be brought to standstill from its maximum speed within 3,000 feet after the brakes are applied.

For the first time in German railroad history, the train will have an observation platform on the last coach like American trains.

Generates Plenty

An answer finally has been found to the puzzling problem, "how much electricity does an electric eel generate?" The answer, said Christopher W. Coates, in charge of the tropical fish department of the New York Aquarium, was from 170 to 300 volts. Coates deduced his six foot electric eel will generate well over 300 volts, enough to kill a horse.

HOT CROSS BUNS

1 cake compressed yeast
1/2 cup butter
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup white sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup currants
5 1/2 to 6 cups sifted Purita Flour
2 cups scalded milk (cooled)
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon (if desired)
Method: Dissolve yeast in lukewarm milk to which 1 tablespoon sugar has been added. Add 3 cups flour, beat until smooth and let rise until light (about 1 1/2 hours). Cream butter and sugar and add to sponge. Add well-beaten eggs, salt, currants, cinnamon, and sufficient flour to make a dough soft enough to be handled conveniently. Mix, turn out on board and knead lightly; place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk (about 1 to 1 1/2 hours), then shape into round buns; place in greased shallow pans about 2 inches apart; cover and let rise until light. Glaze with egg and water; press cross on each bun with back of a knife. Bake for 15 to 20 minutes in hot oven of 400 degrees.

Choice Was Appropriate

Not many people watched the changing of the guard at St. James Palace one day recently. With visibility in Fialry Court practically nil, there was nothing to see. But the band, barely discernible in the fog, was apparently determined to make an appropriate choice of music. The last tune they played before marching back to barracks was "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes."

Another Victim Of X-Ray

Dr. Charles Harvey Archibald, of New York, a pioneer in the use of the X-ray, is dead at Asbury Park, N.J. In 1930 he lost the middle finger of his left hand because of X-ray burns and in 1934 the left arm was amputated. The operation which brought about his death was made in an attempt to check further infection from burns.

For Agricultural Research

University Of Saskatchewan Receives Gift Of $24,000

The Agricultural Research foundation of the University of Saskatchewan will receive a gift of approximately $24,000 for the advancement of agricultural experimental research. This gift will be made possible by enactment of the Saskatchewan legislature, whereby unclaimed assets of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company will be paid over to the fund. The existing research fund was set up from the balance in the credit of the wheat board which operated the crop year of 1919-20. This amounted to approximately $225,000. The interest from the fund is used to carry on agricultural research work in the province.

Coal Mined In January

Was 94,131 Tons More Than In January Last Year

Production of coal in Canada during January totalled 1,381,944 tons, an increase of 94,131 over January, 1935, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported. The output consisted of 772,638 tons of bituminous coal, 65,108 sub-bituminous, and 544,198 lignite.

Alberta led with an output of 635,554 tons, with Nova Scotia next with 437,357. Saskatchewan produced 149,587 tons and New Brunswick 35,677 tons.

March Into Rhineland Recalls Scenes Enacted During World War

Cologne, Germany. — Adolf Hitler's soldiers took up a watch on the Rhine while the population along the important frontier, from the Black Forest to the Dutch border, celebrated what they called the greatest memorial day since the Great War.

(March 8 is an official holiday in Germany in remembrance of war dead.)

The former demilitarized area, more than any other part of Germany, troubled its annual services in memory of those who died in former wars with a jubilee over the marching in Saturday and Sunday of Germany's new army.

Everywhere Adolf Hitler was hailed as the man who "gave us our soldiers back," who recreated "Die Wacht Am Rhein" (The Watch on the Rhine).

People in the streets spoke of the "magnificent" speech Hitler made to the reichstag. Expressions such as "The French will do nothing for we know they are the guilty ones" were freely heard.

Duesseldorf, which before the war was garrisoned with 3,000 men, abandoned itself completely. The welcome reminded one of war-time scenes, when the besieged population threw its arms around rescuing soldiers.

The German army frontier force, based on official figures at the end of two days of occupation, appears still to be less than one-third of the pre-war strength.

Garrisoned towns immediately on the frontier have been left weak. Aachen, with one frontier battalion, is the strongest of these. Before the war Aachen had three battalions. Karlsruhe, with six battalions of the 15th Infantry regiment, and Mannheim, with anti-aircraft units, are the only other garrisons near the French frontier.

Mainz so far has only one battalion but before the war it was a military centre with 10,000 men.

Rumors had been circulated for months that barracks were being prepared in the Rhineland, and they proved true. Hospitals and dwelling houses had been quietly remodelled for the troops' occupation.

In addition to the regular army, which is considered a mere skeleton, the green-uniformed landwehr, or special police corps, created for the demilitarized zone, remains intact. These observers believe, number nine battalions, or a total of about 6,300 men.

Police Officers Dismissed

Nine Toronto Men Have Lost Positions On Force

Toronto. — The Toronto police commission carried out recommendations of the royal commission which probed Toronto police affairs for dismissal of nine police officers. Judgment on 15 others is reserved of robbery was reserved pending receipt of a report by Chief D. C. Draper.

The commission will make its own decision as to whether the 15 men, suspended since December last, be restored to the force.

United States Expected To Absorb Canada's Entire Silver Output

Washington. — Secretary of the United States treasury, Henry Morgenthau said his agreement to buy newly-mined Canadian silver through the Bank of Canada was expected to absorb the Dominion's entire output. The production was estimated by United States treasury officials at about 16,000,000 ounces per year.

Morgenthau said the treasury would fix the price to be paid for the metal rather than to be governed by the prevailing New York price. The treasury figure is about one-fourth cent an ounce higher than that quoted in New York.

Prize List Issued

Sum Of $5,000 Offered Exhibitors At Saskatchewan Winter Fair

Regina. — A total of $5,000 is being offered as prize money at the Saskatchewan Winter Fair to be held in Regina, March 24 to 27, inclusive. Three thousand dollars is offered in prize money for horses and the balance for cattle.

The official prize list has just been issued. Cattle entries have closed, and horse entries close on Sunday, March 24. It was necessary to close the cattle entries early so that sufficient time might be given for the testing of exhibits for tuberculosis. The latter service is given free by the Dominion Health of Animals bureau.

All beef cattle exhibits may be entered in the Fat Cattle Auction Sale held on the afternoon of Wednesday, March 25.

Railway companies have announced to reduce passenger rate in effect March 23 to 30.

Game Commissioners Of Western Provinces Invited To Attend

Saskatoon. — Arrangements have been completed for a western Canada wide life conference in Saskatoon on March 23.

The inter-provincial council, representing Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Alberta, will meet, and the Saskatchewan game commissioner is inviting the game commissioners of Alberta, Manitoba and British Columbia to attend.

Manitoba sportsmen and conservationists will be represented by E. B. Philbado, K.C.; W. J. Hill, Col. Cousseau and E. W. Cartwright. Alberta will send President Wynn of the Alberta Fish and Game Association, Norman Fraser, L. Wize and Arthur Burns, past president. These delegations will likely be added to.

Would Finish Without Pay

Architect Does Not Want Landscaping Project Spoiled

Banff, Alta. — Confronted with an order to discontinue operations on a public works landscaping project, "Cascades of Time," now almost completed after two years' work, Architect H. C. Beckett offered to finish his job without compensation rather than see it "spilled."

His men, all unemployed relief workers, have promised to work until the project, described as a first rate tourist attraction, is finished providing they are given a guarantee their families will be paid.

About $2,700, mostly labor costs, has been spent on the work and only one pool remains to be built. Already $1,100 has been expended on the last, unfinished pool.

Installing New Organ

London. — A new $100,000 organ to replace the present 200-year-old instrument, which has played at many historic ceremonies, will be installed in Westminster Abbey for the coronation of King Edward VIII, expected to take place next year.

King Inspects Liner

London. — Absence of ceremonial characterized His Majesty's visit to Clydebank, for the inspection of the new Cunard, Queen Mary. The tour of the ship occupied three hours.

Preparing For Debate

Instructions Given To Draft Amendment To R.N.A. Act

Montreal. — Instructions have been given to prepare a draft bill providing for amendment of the British North America Act by Canadian authority alone and, when approved by the inter-provincial conference, to be sent to the various legislatures for discussion.

Premier L. A. Taschereau made the declaration after his return from Ottawa where he took part in a conference dealing with constitutional amendments. He said the draft bill would be laid before members of the Quebec legislature early in the session that opens March 24.

The various legislatures will be asked to return the draft to Ottawa, with endorsement or with suggestions for changes and the next step will be for the Dominion parliament to take action, the Quebec premier said.

The opinion in Ottawa, said the premier, was that there would be no objection in Britain if it were found it was the general Canadian will that change should be made.

Want Russians In Treaty

Germany Advises Britain She Wishes Soviet Included

London. — Representatives of Germany were understood to have indicated to British naval experts that the reich was unwilling to enter into a bilateral agreement with Britain, unless the Soviet Union did likewise.

(The projected Anglo-German agreement, supplementing that of last June, would include provision for mutual exchange of information on building programs of the two powers.)

In government quarters it had previously been indicated that Britain was prepared to enter into a bilateral agreement with Russia, provided the Soviet is agreeable.

To Train Jobless Youth

Industrial Arts Institute May Be Established In Winnipeg

Winnipeg. — What the Dominion government intends to do about establishing an industrial arts institute in Winnipeg, to train thousands of the city's idle youth, is awaited by the Manitoba government.

Utilization of a $300,000 fund accredited to Manitoba under the Dominion Technical Education Act is involved in the plan, sponsored by Hon. R. A. Hoey, provincial minister of education, and revealed in the legislature. Mr. Hoey said he was awaiting a reply from Ottawa to proposals which probably would call for joint Dominion-provincial-municipal expenditure.

Information Needed

Winnipeg. — The medical profession is of the opinion British Columbia's proposed health insurance scheme should be delayed pending further study. Dr. G. C. Routley, Toronto, said here. The Canadian Medical Association secretary believed more information was necessary before the plan could be made effective.

ON COMMISSION

Mr. Justice Archambault, judge of the Quebec Supreme Court, who will head the royal commission set up to study the administration of Canada's penal system and the possibilities of its improvement and reform.

Traffic Nearly Doubled

Canada's Air Mail And Freight Heavy Last Year

Ottawa. — Canada's airway almost doubled their freight and mail tonnage in 1935 and carried mail tonnage second only to that of the United States, according to a statement issued by Defence Minister Mackenzie.

Figures contained in the statement tell this story:

Freight and express matter carried by air last year amounted to 26,439,224 pounds, compared with 14,441,179 in 1934 and 4,205,901 in 1933.

Aviation companies carried 177,472 passengers last year compared with 105,306 in 1934 and 85,006 in 1933. The number of "passenger miles" increased correspondingly.

Vital statistics show four pilots were killed in 1935, the same number as in 1934. In 1933 eight were killed. Six flying men were injured last year against seven in 1934 and seven in 1933.

Seven passengers were injured last year, three in 1934 and six in 1933. Last year's accidents totalled 15, an increase of one over 1934, but a decrease of four from 1933.

France Joins Race

Would Make Trial Flights For New Air Service

Washington. — France joined European competition for the right to open a trans-Atlantic air service to North America, exchanging formalities with the United States government which cleared the way for possible experimental flights this year.

British and German companies previously had signified their intention of making such tests this summer.

After these experiments, a decision will be made on which country or countries is to become the European terminus of the proposed airline—to be operated jointly by private companies here and abroad.

NATIONAL MONUMENT TO KING GEORGE V.

Very shortly plans will be drawn up in England to erect a national monument to King George V. It is expected it will be similar to that of his late father, King Edward VII (above), which stands at the top of the Duke of York's steps, which lead into the Mall. Behind the monument is the German Embassy.

Chamberlain Defends Britain's Proposals For Defence Expansion

Medical Service Planned

Revised Health Insurance Bill Coming Before B.C. House

Victoria, B.C. — A plan making available essential medical services for about 125,000 employees and their families, some 300,000 persons in all, is contained in the revised health insurance bill expected to be introduced in the British Columbia legislature shortly. Provisions of the revised bill were announced by Hon. G. M. Weir, provincial secretary. The average cost to the wage earner would be 40 cents a week.

Medical care by the physician or surgeon chosen by the insured person, free hospital care, services of diagnostic laboratories, necessary drugs and medicines and a maternity cash benefit of $20 were "mandatory benefits." Various other medical services are "permissive benefits" which may be granted if sufficient funds are available after payments of mandatory benefits.

The bill deals with the family as a unit, including dependent wives and children with their wage-earner husbands as insured persons.

Trade With Australia

Exports And Imports Showed Gain During Last Year

Ottawa. — Canada's trade with Australia during 1935 showed a gain of 35 per cent. In exports and 17 per cent. in imports over the previous year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported.

Total trade with Australia amounted to $30,195,000 in 1935 against $23,201,000 in 1934. Imports from Australia were worth $7,395,000 last year against $6,331,000 in 1934, and exports $22,800,000 compared with $16,870,000.

Among the principal items of export were autos valued at $7,012,000; auto parts, $918,000; fish, $2,060,000; paper, $4,361,000; tools, $419,000; wood (unmanufactured), $3,206,000; planks and boards, $1,540,000. Leading items imported were dried fruits valued at $3,422,000; preserved fruits, $363,000; wool and products, $1,638,000; grease for soaps and oils, $173,000; raw wool, $494,000; onions, $57,000; gelatine, $105,000; brandy, $33,000; sugar, $1,005,000.

Making Western Tour

Governor-General Plans To Start Trip In August

Ottawa, Ont. — Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada, will make his first tour of western Canada this summer. Tentative plans for this tour call for the vice-regal party to leave Ottawa late in July, but it will probably be the first week of August before the tour begins. Lord Tweedsmuir plans to spend as much time as possible in the pioneer districts of the west. His visits to the larger centres will be cut down to the minimum.

Birmingham. — Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, defended the government's defence expansion proposals in a speech to his constituents of Edgbaston, Birmingham.

"We cannot shut our eyes to what is going on elsewhere, and we must make our country safe," he said. "We are not expecting war. We hope it never comes. But we must be prepared for all eventualities."

He said he felt that "by putting ourselves in a position to fulfil our obligations under the covenant of the league we are making the greatest possible contribution to the cause of peace."

If the government's defence proposals had been received without a word of fear or anxiety from any one country of Europe, continued the chancellor of the exchequer, it realized that "our forces never will be used except for the purpose of arresting aggression by others."

The government's plans had been altered to meet changed situations more than once, said Chamberlain. And it was almost certain that new conditions would compel further changes. For that reason it was impossible for the government to say what they were going to ask parliament. (The white paper on defence did not estimate the cost of the extension reorganization program.)

The government, he continued, was determined to build up an air force "possessed of such terrific striking power, power to inflict such terrific damage upon the enemy, that any one who would think for a very long time before they start hostilities."

China Starts Conscription

Men 18 To 45 Have To Take Military Training

London. — A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Nanking said the central Chinese government had announced military conscription throughout the country. The dispatch stated the measure provided for two years' military training for all able-bodied men between the ages of 18 and 45.

In unofficial London circles, the order was interpreted as the most daring attempt yet made by China's Nanking government to counter the Japanese policy in north China.

Doctor Awarded Medal

Detroit. — Dr. Eugene Mackley Landis, 32-year-old Philadelphia physician, who performed the delicate feat of measuring changes in the minute blood vessels under the fingernails, was awarded the John Phillips memorial medal of the American College of Physicians.

Early Action Promised

Ottawa. — Legislation to provide for equalizing payments to farmers on 1930 pool wheat will be introduced in parliament within a fortnight. Prime Minister Mackenzie told the House of Commons.

Ethiopia Accepts Peace Proposals, But Italy May Ask Reservations

Geneva. — Emperor Haile Selassie's full acceptance of the League of Nations' peace proposals was published by the league secretariat.

"We agree," said the emperor's telegram, "to opening negotiations subject to provisions of the covenant being respected."

In this connection, league officials pointed out that the appeal specified negotiations were to be carried on "within the framework and in the spirit of the covenant."

The full text of the reply follows: "We have taken note of the telegram which you communicated to our minister of foreign affairs on behalf of the committee of 13."

"All states who are members of the League of Nations are aware that even before the outbreak of the war we did our best to insure peace by equitable conciliation in conformity with the spirit of the covenant of the League of Nations."

"Italy, in violation of her international obligations and her humanitarian measures taken up to the present, is continuing her aggression."

"We agree to opening negotiations subject to provisions of the covenant being respected. We note that the committee of thirteen's proposal is made that the negotiation be conducted in the spirit of the covenant and the work of the league."

"Our detailed reply will be communicated to you through our minister to Paris."

Rome. — Diplomatic circles foresaw a qualified "yes" as Italy most likely reply to the peace proposals put forward by the League of Nations committee of 13.

Meanwhile Premier Mussolini was knocking at many doors in an effort to chart Italy's course in the complicated international scene. He conferred with Vice-chancellor Ernst von Sladen of Austria.

The two statesmen were said to be considering an Italo-Austro-Hungarian political and economic pact to "preserve the equilibrium in the Danube area" and which might involve German participation. Tripartite talks among Italy, Austria and Hungary will begin here March 18.

METROPOLITAN LIFE BUSINESS SHOWS GROWTH

Insurance in Force Increased
—Welfare Work Benefits
Policyholders

OTTAWA, March 9. — Continued progress is shown in the 56th annual report of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company released today. Life insurance in force passed the twenty million dollar mark in 1935, an all-time high figure indicative of better conditions throughout Canada and the United States. The number of life policies in force, including 1,670,041 Group certificates, totalled 12,185,148. Other outstanding features of the report include: a substantial increase in assets bringing the total well over four billion dollars; the payment during the year to policyholders and their beneficiaries of the record amount of $535,251,584 — which was at the rate of $4.80 a minute for each business day; the declaration of the 1935 dividends payable to policyholders totalling $85,984,851; and the continuation of the Company's extensive health and welfare activities.

"The Company's business in Canada continues to grow," stated Third Vice-President Harry D. Wright, Manager for Canada. "Over a billion dollars of life insurance represented by 2,037,455 policies is now in force here. The amount paid to Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries during the year was $28,412,440. Almost four hundred thousand nursing visits were made to Canadian policyholders without additional charge and nearly four and a half million pieces of health literature were distributed in the Dominion in 1935."

Mr. Wright expressed satisfaction at the results of the Company's national advertising, featuring health messages and the showing of the technicolor talking picture "Once Upon a Time," aimed at accident prevention. He pointed out that, since 1872, when the Metropolitan commenced business in Canada, the Company has paid out and invested in the Dominion a sum exceeding by $187,000,000 the amount collected here in premiums, and that the Company's Canadian investments now total $207,633,143, an increase during the year 1935 of $10,715,075.

HARRY D. WRIGHT
Third Vice-President and Manager for Canada, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who reports increased investments in the Dominion.

"Life Insurance in Canada has a record of which we can all be proud," said Mr. Wright. "It has fulfilled its stewardship by safeguarding the funds made up of the savings of its policyholders, and it has placed millions of dollars in circulation by the prompt settlement of obligations under its various policy contracts."

Referring to the Company's total business in Canada and the United States, the year's report shows a gain of life insurance in force of $770,544,101. This gain is reflected in all departments and represents high points in the history of the Company. The total insurance in force is now $29,239,348,578, of which $1,512,952,418,421 is in the Ordinary Department. The Industrial Department has 83.7% or $8,829,546,289, and Group Insurance accounts for 14.5% with a total of $2,864,493,775.

Assets increased $293,684,800 in 1935 and totalled $2,284,822,131 on December 31st last. On this date the surplus funds were $259,806,720. A substantial part of the increase in assets is represented by larger holdings of government bonds. Policy loans increased only one half of 1%, which is the smallest increase in many years, and furnishes some evidence of the return of better times in Canada and the United States.

For the fourth successive year, the Metropolitan disbursed more than half a billion dollars to its policyholders and beneficiaries in death claims, maturity payments, dividends, disability benefits and other payments. More than two-thirds of the total was paid to living policyholders — a powerful refutation of the saying that, in life insurance, "you have to die to win". An idea of the Metropolitan's business can be conveyed by reducing some of these annual figures to a daily basis. For instance, the daily average of payments to beneficiaries and policyholders and addition to reserve was more than two million dollars. An average of 2,280 claims were paid every day; and every day saw an average of 19,242 life insurance policies issued and revived; and $10,227,510 in life insurance issued, revived and increased.

THE COLEMAN JOURNAL

Published Every Thursday at Coleman, Alberta. H.T. Halliwell, Proprietor
Membership Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and Alberta Div. C.W.N.A.

THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1936

NOTES AND COMMENTS

LOOKING OVER exchange weekly newspapers is interesting. More than any other factor, the appearance of weekly newspapers indicates fairly accurately the enterprise of the towns in which they are published. There are some that stand out above others, because the publishers are more enterprising than others, and also because they have energetic support of merchants and business interests. Enterprising publishers and enterprising towns seem to go together. Each apparently helps the other, besides which live business men's organizations create additional business and social activity.

WE WERE struck by this in looking over the Penticton Herald, one of our regular exchanges. It covers the local news very thoroughly, carries an outstanding editorial page, and adding to this page's interest are the contributions of independent writers. If one were to judge Penticton and district by its paper alone, it would rate very high among the cities and towns of the interior of British Columbia. Truly the local weekly newspaper is a reflex of all that is good and worth-while in a community.

HERE IS a thought concerning Coleman. Among the mining towns, and among the farming towns, this town enjoys an unenviable position under present conditions. Steady contracts for the supply of coke and coal assure fairly steady employment to approximately 700 workers, with a pay-roll every two weeks, which in the course of a year totals about $1,300,000, or a per capita spending power of $433 for each man, woman and child, basing the town's population on 3,000 people.

WITHOUT QUESTION a percentage of this money finds its way to many outside channels of retail trade, a larger percentage than is really pleasant to reflect upon. One reason of this is that people like to shop in the cities whenever they have the opportunity, and cheap week-end rates on railroads facilitate the movement. There is only one way in which to meet this competition; by a greater effort and more efficient merchandising, with more attractive stocks, on the part of local retailers. The money being disbursed in wages warrants a greater investment in up-to-date and appealing stocks, and also the volume of cash should enable a wide-awake merchant to curtail the credit business which has added to the cost of carrying on. One must move with the times to reap the advantages of the opportunities offered. We might also add a word too, concerning the newspaper's part, that through it can be conveyed the business creating announcements of those desirous of making the public acquainted with the goods they have to sell.

AFTER GETTING in a word for ourselves as well as the rest of the town, we might consider the consumer. He considers he is the goat for all and sundry, because sales and turnover taxes are extracted from him by being added to the price of all the goods he purchases. Clothes, boots, meats and groceries all come under the sales tax, so that the larger the family, the bigger the tax. Naturally, the family man and his wife have to make the dollars stretch as far as possible, and under the spell of attractive catalogues and profusely illustrated pages, the price features make a strong appeal to the imagination and the pocket book, particularly the latter.

IT REMINDS the writer of a farmer who commenting on a campaign to "keep the money at home," walked into a newspaper office, and explained how he had followed this advice. He told of having called at three different farm implement dealers to buy a manure spreader. Each had a different price, and he compared them with the price of the implement as described in a mail order catalogue. The difference was so marked that he felt in duty bound to himself he must purchase from the mail order house, for said he, I kept so many dollars at home by so doing, describing the amount saved.

THIS TURNS our thoughts towards the so-called "just price" in Alberta. If just prices are merely controlled prices, to which the consumer must submit without any comeback, then they will be very unpopular, and will destroy business instead of increasing it as far as Alberta is concerned. Under such a system one can imagine the mail order houses would be getting the lion's share of retail trade, for there is no restriction on people buying goods from outside the province, and under the Federal laws, these goods, coming in from one province to another cannot be taxed. So the consumer has some protection under the much-maligned B. N. A. Act, however much out-of-date it may be regarded by some who would like to throw it overboard.

OF COURSE, legislators, experienced or otherwise, legislate with a sincere desire to improve conditions. But what we do object to is, that because we do not agree with many proposals which appear unsound from a practical viewpoint, being regarded as an enemy of those who think they have the only remedy for curing the economic ills of

The annual Dominion convention of the Canadian Legion will open in Vancouver on Wednesday, March 18, closing with a meeting of the Dominion executive council on March 26.

The general meeting of the Canadian Legion called at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday was postponed till April 20, at 7 p.m., owing to there not being a quorum present.

Five extra coaches were attached to Train 12 on Saturday afternoon to convey the excursionists from the Pass towns to Calgary to see Canadians play in the second game against Luscar. With many going out on the train, and both mines working, the town seemed comparatively quiet for pay-day.

Spring must be approaching, for a lady living on Sixth street reports hearing a bluebird during the week, but didn't see it. Jim Cousins living in West Coleman usually comes along with a report of having heard or seen a harbinger of spring, getting into a controversy at one time as to whether a bird which the lady had seen was a robin or some other bird. So far The Journal has not heard from either of them.

The Empire theatre in Penticton filed a claim of $2525.80 against the council for loss in power shut-down. Many other business claims have been filed. The shut-down occurred through about 30 miles of poles being wrecked, and owned by the West Kootenay Power and Light Co. The claims will be filed by the town council against the light company. The council claims that the pole line was in a weakened condition and unable to stand up under the weight of snow which fell in January.

Coleman Boy Wins In Radio Contest

John Pietrazako, a Coleman boy who has gained local fame as a violin player and winner of an amateur radio contest, commenced his tuition under W. J. Harris, and since childhood has been taking lessons. It is interesting to recall that his father, a miner at McGillivray, was injured while at work, and was on a fair way to recovery when he developed pneumonia, from which he died. Only a short time before his death, he remarked that he hoped Johnny would continue with his violin playing. A few years later his mother died, but Johnny kept on taking lessons under W. H. Moser. He has been heard frequently in solo and orchestral work, and has been a successful competitor at the annual musical festival.

Drumheller held its seventh annual musical festival this week.

the world. It took a few hundred years to develop our present system of doing business, and we are conservative enough to believe that it has much good in it because it has stood the test of time, in a practical way. We know that wealth can only be produced by work, thrift, industry and strict application to our daily tasks, and never expect to receive a dividend on something we have not worked for. 'Tis foolish to indulge in idle dreams, pleasant though they may be for the moment.

HAVING filled the allotted space, we close with the best of feeling to await the brickbats which usually fall on Friday.

The Journal was in error in stating that Gordie Ross, announcer of a Calgary radio station, was a son of Dr. Ross, former mine surgeon of Coleman. A lady reader kindly called the office to point out the error, stating that there is no relationship between them except in name only.

Brief Sketch of The Town Secretary

JAMES FORD, secretary-treasurer of Coleman since July 4, 1911, and also town constable for a short time came from Sheffield to Bellevue in 1910. Formerly he had been on the Leeds city police force, and resigned after five years service.

He worked in the West Canadian Collieries mine at Bellevue, and was injured in an explosion which killed 31 men and injured 12, he being among the seriously hurt, with a bad head wound and other injuries.

Coming to Coleman in 1911, he first combined the duties of secretary and constable, the town being much smaller than at present. Later as the secretary's work increased, he was employed full time, as well as being appointed secretary-treasurer of Coleman School District, on Oct. 3, 1911, when the late Alex. Cameron was chairman of the trustees.

He was married in England to Miss Sarah Jane Connell, and members of the family born there were Elsie, (Mrs. Shields) George, William and Evelyn. Lawrence was born in Coleman.

On July 4 of this year Mr. Ford will have completed a quarter of a century's service in town affairs. Mayors and councils, and school trustees may come and go, but the secretary stays on steering the straight course through good times and poor.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company Policyholders

have an interest in this Annual Report

IT may be assumed that these policyholders took out their insurance through a sense of responsibility for those in whose protection they are interested.

When they pay their premiums, there falls upon the Insurance Company a responsibility to pay current claims and to provide adequate funds for the payment of all future obligations.

The figures below show the amount of the claims paid by this Company last year. They also show how well prepared the Company is to meet its responsibilities in the future.

The number of policies and the amount of insurance in force reflect the confidence reposed in the Company by the people of Canada and the United States.

Here's Real Help In Avoiding Many Miserable Colds

Unique Medication Designed to Aid Nature's Defenses in Nose and Throat, Where Most Colds Start.

PROVED IN USE BY MILLIONS

In the exclusive formula of Vicks Vapo-Rin has been found a unique and successful aid in preventing many colds and who's threat to our comfort and health.

Va-tro-nol is especially designed for the nose and throat—where most colds start. It aids and stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off head colds in the early stages. Used in time—at the first nasal irritation, sniffles, or sneeze—just a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol helps to avoid many colds.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Va-tro-nol reduces swollen membranes—clears clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

For Fewer and Shorter Colds. Note to mothers—who guard the family's health: Vicks has developed, especially for children, Plan for Better Home Control of Colds. This guide to fewer and shorter colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of Vicks Plan in each Va-tro-nol package.

Conferred Decorations

First Investiture by King Edward VIII. Ceremony

The first investiture of King Edward's reign took place in Buckingham Palace, where he conferred honors and decorations awarded by his father, the late King George V., in the New Year's list, and decorating with the Royal Victorian Order the sailors and soldiers who participated in King George's funeral.

The brilliant ceremony took place in the white and gold Throne Room on the ground floor of the Palace, with the King in the blue and gold full-dress uniform of an Admiral of the Fleet, attended by the Acting Lord Chamberlain, Sir George Crichton, and the great officers of the Royal Household.

Outside the Palace, the guard of honor of Coldstream Guards presented arms and the band played the National Anthem. Crowds saw the officers and men of the Navy and Army march to the Palace to be decorated by the King.

First came a battery of the Royal Horse Artillery who drew the gun carriage at Sandringham; then men of the King's Company of Grenadier Guards, who acted as bearers; followed by men of the Royal Horse Guards and Life Guards and 300 musketeers of the gun-tasks who drew the gun carriage in the funeral processions at London and Windsor.

The officers were invested with various degrees of the Victorian Order and the men were decorated with the medal of the same order.

Toll Of Carelessness

Accidents Caused 99,000 Deaths In United States Last Year

Our modern complex life, says the Kitchener, Ont., Record, accompanied by the hustle and bustle that fray men's nerves, is beset with many dangers. Somehow it seems that the traps which seem to be so unimagineable are much more numerous than they were years ago because carelessness takes a much greater toll due to present-day contrivances designed to make life less of a drudgery. Therefore it behooves all of us to go about with eyes open if we would avoid the pitfalls that so often bring death or serious injury.

A tragic story emanating from Chicago emphasizes in grim reality the appalling cost of carelessness in this day and age. The National Safety Council states that 99,000 persons died in accidents in the United States last year—one every six minutes. On top of that 385,000 persons were permanently injured and 9,100,000 temporarily disabled. The total financial damage attributed in one way or another to these accidents reached $3,000,000,000 in property loss, wage loss and medical expense.

First In Canada

Television Station Will Shortly Be Erected In Toronto

Early this spring a high-powered radio television station is to be erected in Toronto, the first of its kind in Canada. The announcement is made by the Dominion Peck Television, Limited, a company formed by a group of prominent Toronto business and financial interests as the direct result of successful tests carried out at the experimental station, VERA-K, in Montreal, last year. Constructed to operate on 5,000 watts, the station will provide good reception of programs not only in the city but also throughout and within a radius of approximately 100 miles.

OLD PEOPLE FEEL YOUNG

Just because more years than you care to count have fled by on your life's calendar is no reason for feeling old. Age, after all, isn't a matter of years. It is a matter of health. Stay vigorous and you stay young. But how, you ask. Do it the way thousands of people of advancing years do. Take Vincarnal regularly.

Vincarnal is a delicious wine, free from drugs, that brings you all the valuable elements of grapes combined with the highest grade beef and cod liver oils. Its invigorating effect is almost magical—yet perfectly natural.

These valuable elements in Vincarnal give your ageing system exactly the stimulating nourishment it requires. They soothe your nerves, enrich your blood, and flood your whole body with almost youthful buoyancy and vigor. More than 20,000 medical men have testified to its value. It is a great tonic. It will make you feel young again by creating for you new stores of strength and energy. Vincarnal from your druggist—Sales Agents: Harold F. Ritchie & Co. Ltd., Toronto.

Great Lakes Hold Millions

Valuable Cargoes Went Down With Many Wrecked Ships

"That's the gold in them Great Lakes"—and coal and whiskey, too. The treasure, estimated to be worth more than $20,000,000, lies in the sunken hulks scattered on the floor of North America's great inland sea. Nobody knows the exact total but in the last 70 years more than 2,000 ships have been lost in the five lakes.

Strung out in a row there would be a wreck every half mile in the 1,100 miles from Buffalo at the foot of the lakes to Duluth at the head. The gold is there but in meagre quantity. The real money lies in coal and whiskey.

Three of the better known carriers of "firewater" were the Lexington, which vanished with 110 barrels between Cleveland and Port Huron; the Anthony Wayne, lost to Lake Erie with 300 barrels of whiskey and wine, and the Westmoreland, wrecked near Manitou Island with a similar cargo. Submerged freighters hold thousands of tons of coal.

Seekers of heavier stuff would find $500,000 worth of pig zinc in the holds of the Dean Richard; $200,000 in steel billets in the Foy and $50,000 in copper in the City of Detroit.

Successful salvage jobs have paid well. The Atlantic, located 25 years after it sank, gave up $30,000; the Erie, brought up 14 years after foundering, had $180,000 in immigrant savings; and Capt. Harris W. Baker, of Detroit, earned $50,000 by salvaging the William H. Stevens.

Made A Good Story

Man Thought Up Fine Reason For Shooting Duck

"I receive some strange letters from all parts of the world in connection with my work in bird conservation," said Jack Miner, noted naturalist of Kingsville, Ontario, "but the most amusing of the lot arrived from a police officer in the United States, who apparently is suffering from a few wrinkles of conscience because he shot one of my birds out of season."

"The chap appears to have a keen imagination, or else a low opinion of my intelligence, for, after describing the tag which he found on the duck's leg, bearing my name, he writes: 'It happened like this. I was pursuing some bl-jackers the other day in the course of my duty and I fired my revolver into the air to make them stop. To my surprise, down came your duck—dead.'"

Patent Has Expired

Rights To Publish Bible Will Have To Be Renewed

The accession of a new sovereign has once again revived the question of the rights to publish the Bible in Great Britain. The patent of the privileged presses—the king's printers and those of Oxford and Cambridge Universities—expired with the death of the late King George, and a protest against its renewal has been raised by Rev. J. Moffat of the Scottish National Church. Those who defend the right of privilege assert that the question is not merely one of commercial monopoly. History shows, they say, that unless Bible printing is controlled, all sorts of misprints and mistranslations—sometimes intentional—creep in. "Stunt" editions for collectors might be issued. There might even be editions with advertisements.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MARCH 15

JESUS TEACHES HIS DISCIPLES TO PRAY

Golden text: If we ask anything with full form in 'The Sermon on the Mount' to His will, he heareth us. 1. John 5:14.

Lesson: Luke 11.

Devotional reading: Matthew 6: 6-13.

Explanations and Comments

A Disciple's Request, Luke 11:1-2. Matthew gives "The Lord's Prayer" in fuller form in "The Sermon on the Mount," and associates it with Jesus' warning against the insincere prayers of the Pharisees. Luke tells us nothing about the time or place: "It came to pass" he says, "as Jesus was praying in a certain place, that one of his disciples desired him to teach them to pray as John the Baptist had taught his disciples." The Lord's Prayer, Luke 11:2-4. In answer to the only request of the disciples, as far as the Gospel records go, for instruction, Jesus taught them the prayer of which Matthew gives a longer version.

The clause "Who art in heaven" expresses in a characteristically Jewish way, A. E. Garvie comments, the reverence for God which the address "Father" might seem to lack. Thy name, as we often have occasion to observe, stands in the Scriptures for thyself. Thy Kingdom come.

"Lord, when we pray, 'Thy Kingdom come!'" Then fold our hands without a care For souls whom thou hast died to save.

We day, and forgive us our sins, for we do forgive everyone who has offended us; and lead us not into temptation (Moffatts translation).

The clause "Who art in heaven" expresses in a characteristically Jewish way, A. E. Garvie comments, the reverence for God which the address "Father" might seem to lack. Thy name, as we often have occasion to observe, stands in the Scriptures for thyself. Thy Kingdom come.

"Give us this our daily bread, we pray, And give, as likewise, Lord, our daily thought, That our poor souls may strengthen as we ought, And starve not on the husks of yesterday" (Phillips Brooks).

Forgive us as we ourselves forgive. It is not possible to receive love from God while we are filled with hatred to men; until we have the spirit which forgives, we have not the spirit which can be forgiven.

Expense To Great Britain

War In Ethiopia Is Costing Empire $150,000 A Day

The Ethiopian-Italian war is costing Great Britain something over $150,000 a day. This is because Britain has had to take certain emergency measures in order to insure herself against aggression in the Mediterranean area. She has shifted the bulk of her fleet to those waters and strengthened her positions in Malta and Gibraltar. Nor is the end yet in sight. It has just been announced that Britain's biggest battleship, the Hood, will soon leave again for the vicinity of Gibraltar, and when she has arrived, "the total of British ships in and near the Mediterranean" will be 158, compared with the 157 gathered there just a month ago." All of which ought to be a fairly apt illustration of the extravagant cost of fighting even to the nations that do not fight. —Baltimore Sun.

Making Reservations Early

People Already Aaking For Seats For Coronation Procession

Although King Edward's coronation is not to take place before next year, people are writing from all parts of the empire for seats in stands or at windows along the route of the procession. Fantastic prices are being offered but no business can be done as the route to be followed by the procession has not been fixed. So the applications are being filed pending announcement of the arrangements.

Has Far-Reaching Effect

What happens on land may very often affect fishing in the water. For instance, removing forests and draining swamps tends to increase spring floods and brings about summer droughts in the streams, and both flood conditions and drought conditions may affect fishing.

Lacy Neckwear For the Making

PATTERN 5397

Fresh, youthful, charming—these lovely, lacy collars have truly captured Spring's own spirit! What's more, they'll make one frock look like three. The top one resembling flower petals, is quickly done in petit boucle, or colored string. Crochet cotton makes the simple one with ruffled edge at the upper right. While that lacy bib 'n' tucker is so easy to crochet, a beginner will want to make that one first.

In pattern 5397 you will find complete instructions for making the collars shown; an illustration of them and of the stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

There is no Alice Brooks pattern book published

New Mountain Playground

Alpine Club Aid In Establishing The Provincial Park

To the Alpine Club of Canada, Vancouver section, goes much of the credit for the recent establishment of Seymour Mountain as a provincial park. The government has set aside 667 acres of peak and valley where alpine, hiker and mountaineer will find a playground unexcelled in the North Shore hills.

The lake-studded parkland, frowned on by the lesser peaks of the Seymour range, grown thinly with alpine hemlock and cypress, and weather now many feet under snow, is approachable either from pipeline road or Seymour Creek or from Buck's old logging road in the vicinity of Deep Cove. One strenuous day's climb will take the hiker from Vancouver to James or Theta Lake, which lie at the northeast boundary, while at a small expenditure the Deep Cove approach may be made passable for cars to within half an hour of the Alpine club cabin, almost at the edge of the park.

While no cabins will be built in the park, it is probable that a shelter of some kind will be raised later. Vancouver business men may be invited to visit the area on an inspection trip this summer, when the park is clear of snow.

Tablets Recall "Siege"

Italians To Remember Economic Action Imposed By 50 Nations

Eight thousand marble tablets permanently embedded in the facades of every town hall in Italy will remind future generations of the economic siege which 50 nations imposed on Italy in 1935 and 1936.

Musolini personally examined various models submitted. Then he sent orders to the prefects of Massa Carrara, world famous marble region, and of Lucca, to cause 8,000 tablets to be made according to the model selected by him.

The tablets will be simple in design. A fascist lictor's emblem will flank on each side the inscription: "November 18, 1935—Italians, Remember!"

A nation-wide ceremony will mark the simultaneous placing of the 8,000 tablets.

Watch Made Into Clock

Years of faithful service feature a British watch said to have been made in 1760. It has been converted into a clock at Harrisville, New South Wales. And it still goes on ticking. The work of Randle Norton, an eighteenth century British clock maker, it is now owned by Mr. E. Powming, a jeweller. The watch keeps splendid time.

2 Things That Combat Colds Like Magic!

Ask Any Doctor... Then Follow Simple Directions Pictured Below. Quickest, Simplest Way

1. Take two "Aspirin" Tablets. Make sure you get "Aspirin."

2. Drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

Instead of using fancy priced "cold remedies" try the new-day cold treatment pictured here. Your own doctor will approve it. It will start eating the average cold or sore throat almost as fast as you could get it. The "Aspirin" you take will start combating your cold internally at once; if throat is sore, crush six or eight "Aspirin" Tablets in a third

"Why not take a loan on your steers?" Or have you done that elsewhere?" he demanded suspiciously.

Fleming smiled. "We trade here, Otto, unless you drive us away. Of course, I did hear dealings has a lot of cash to lend, now he's increased his capitalization. But here's the thing: we need this small matter of eight hundred for our payroll. Got 27 men working on the dam, Otto, and he'll be finished in a couple of days. We don't want to lumber our steers; we want to get cash for them. It'll just about finish up things."

There was a moment's silence. "The pair of you owe me two thousand on a note now. There's first mortgages besides. Link, I gave you five hundred last Tuesday."

He broke off at the girl uttered a gasp. But quickly she changed her surprised expression to a smile. "Then you'll give us the money, Mr. Pieper?"

His eyes seemed to bore through her. "Of course he scowled and swung away. "Can't see my way clear. Sorry. Good-day!"

Helen's heart seemed to fall in her breast. Fleming's countenance went a shade paler and his lips held apart as if he were utterly non-plussed. He sat at last, his head bowed, his hands clasped, and his eyes fixed on the floor.

"Don't know what we'll do," Link said regretfully. "Go see Sol Hastings; he'll tell us what to do. Too bad Helen and I agreed you've been so considerate, Otto, that we wanted to show our appreciation with fifty acres of land when it's irrigated. You could sell it for two hundred an acre."

Pieper related the impulse a moment, then swung around. "Sit down, sit down! Let me think this over once more." He pursed his lips, eyes fastened on the floor.

Inwardly the quick-witted president of the Stockmen's Bank was squirming, and his visitors knew it. If he refused the loan, they would ride at once to Atlas and doubtless obtain money from his rival, the First National Bank there.

At first he had disapproved Link's plan to build the irrigation dam. Yet... Otto Pieper was no fool. Yesterday, riding to view the dam, he had received a letter. It had talked with Tom McLendon, the engineer in charge; he had examined blueprints and viewed every angle of the undertaking. The dam itself was small as such projects went, barring the sharp rocky V which Silver Creek had worn over the centuries. Construction was simple, McLendon pointed out, since the Creek had been successfully diverted during the work. A half-mile long miniature lake would be created to irrigate by means of ditches Fleming's seventeen hundred and Helen Hamilton's nine hundred acres on a productive Paradise.

Pieper could not shake off the conviction that there would be a five hundred per cent increase in the value of the two ranches and their wasteland. The matter of fifty acres as a sign of appreciation.

He did not notice Helen's quick despairing frown nor Helen Link's swift intake of breath. Otto thought: what if the project failed?

Well, his bank owned a first mortgage on each ranch; a note signed by both partners, as well as a note signed by Link alone. If Sol Hastings took security against the youth and girl, Otto would have to bid against Hastings at a bankruptcy sale, in case it came to that.

Pieper related his plan. If he gave up their business he was certain to profit whether the partners succeeded or failed. Of a sudden he sat bolt upright, his thin bloodless lips going "tick tick!" They stirred, tensely hopeful.

"Mind," Otto warned, snatching his fingerprints, "I don't say this thing will succeed. Rash undertaking—rash and headstrong. I don't approve, against my judgment."

"But I concede it may. I sincerely hope it will. Er, and while I couldn't accept any reward for acting for this bank... I He paused significantly.

"Oh, we'll be reasonable about the price. You're the only man can buy an inch. Isn't that so, Helen?"

She nodded, scarcely crediting her ears. She watched their host draw a pad of blank notes from his desk and reach for a pen. "I'll ask you both to sign it. 'Pieper' the bank president called to his clerk bent over the huge ledger. "Bring me eight hundred dollars. How do you want it, Link? Tens, twenties, fifties? Mixed?"

He mopped his brow beaded with tiny drops of perspiration. "Cash in hand, please. I've been waiting. 'Any way at all, Otto. Just so it's money!'"

CHAPTER IX.

They hurried out of the Stockmen's Bank with the buoyant sense of treasuring on air. Once in the sunshine Helen stopped, impulsively pressing both hands on Link's arm. "Oh!" she breathed, and her dark eyes glowed admiration. "I—I thought surely Mr. Pieper would refuse us. You were wonderful—wonderful!"

Starting down at her flushed, relieved face, he grinned. "We are lucky. But look here, Helen, that fifty acres comes out of my spread. Good!" He mopped his perspiring brow. "If Otto had turned us down I don't know how we'd finish the dam. Only a couple of days to go, too! We'd be ruined," he finished soberly.

"We are partners, Link, and I'll give part of that fifty acres when Pieper wants it. By the way, you didn't mention that you borrowed five hundred dollars from him the other day."

"Well,"—guiltily—"that drain pipe for the ditches had to be paid for, and the cement company was hotheaded. But she'll, I'll benefit more than you. We won't count that."

"Link, have we enough money to complete the dam?"

He was silent a moment. "I don't know. This eight hundred won't even square us with the boys on wages. I'm hoping it'll keep 'em quiet for a spell, though. It's plain we can't get another penny from Otto, but it wouldn't be honest to go to Sol Hastings at Atlas. All we can do," he said in a worried tone, "is hope for the best and try to sell our steers for enough to see us through. A little dam costs big money, doesn't it?"

Sheriff Ames Stephen across the street gestured as if to convey some information without Helen's knowledge. Link frowned and tried to make out the lawman's silent gibberish. Then his eyes travelled past Stephen, and he saw the high rear of the Flagstaff-to-Rawhide stage as it stood in front of the Half Moon Cafe.

At once he understood that Buzz Hamilton was home from the penitentiary. But the man certainly was nowhere in evidence along the street. Arriving while they were engaged with Pieper, Link had found no one to meet him, and more than likely he had drifted into the Half Moon for a drink.

A troubled look entered Link's grey eyes. He blamed himself for not meeting Buzz and starting him off on away from temptation. Was he to go back to drinking and gambling the moment he returned to Rawhide?

From inside his shirt he took the packet that was the eight hundred dollars of payroll money and extended it to Helen. Would you mind very much if I stay while you start back to your spread with this? I'll be along after while and we'll tend to payin' off the boys."

Helen accepted the packet hesitantly. "Why, no, I'll do that, Link. What you want to say about doesn't concern our dam, does it?"

"No. To tell the truth, I—er—I'm going to have a surprise for you. Yes, sir, a mighty fine surprise." He chuckled. "But I'm not springin' it now. You'll find out in good time."

Her oval face relaxed in a smile. "Very well, Link." They moved to her vint at the hitch rack a few feet away and he held her stirrup while Helen mounted. Once astride, she looked down at him a little anxiously. "You aren't going to gamble?"

Silenced Chimer Ring Out

Quietened During The War, Have Been Duplicated And Replaced

The chiming of Rheims cathedral, which have been silent for 20 years, are ringing again every 15 minutes of the day and night. The original chiming were destroyed by the Germans in September, 1914, but they have been duplicated and replaced by Rockefeller generosity.

There are 14 bells in all, giving every tone of the half-tone of an octave. Each bell can be used to sound at least nine distinct notes. The chief bell weighs 2,650 pounds, and is an exact copy of the one it replaces in weight, tonality and decoration.

Home Guide Aids In Lifting Heavy Burden of Colds

Brings Better Control of Colds for the Family—Easy to Follow

A GREAT HELP TO MOTHERS

Much of the heavy burden that colds impose upon Canadian families can now be avoided—with the help of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. This practical home guide to fewer and shorter colds has just three simple steps:

1. To Help Build Resistance to Colds Live normally—avoid excesses. Eat simple food and keep elimination regular. Drink plenty of water. Take some exercise daily—outdoors preferably. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

2. To Help Prevent Many Colds At the first signs of throat irritation, sniffle or sneeze, use Vicks Vapo-rol—just a few drops up each nostril. Vapo-rol is especially designed for the nose and throat—where most colds start. Use in time, Vapo-rol helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

3. To Help End a Cold Sooner If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, rub throat and chest at bedtime with Vicks Vapo-rol. Vapo-rol acts two ways at once: (1) By stimulating the skin, like a poultice or plaster; (2) By inhalation of its penetrating medicinal vapors, direct to inflamed air passages. Through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm, soothes irritation, helps break congestion.

The worth of Vicks Plan to others has been demonstrated in clinical tests among 14,702 people—further proved in everyday home use by thousands.

What this commonsense, medically sound Plan can do for you and your family can be proved only by trying it. You'll find full directions for following it in any package of Vicks Vapo-rol or Vicks VapoBulb.

Adventure In The Jungle

Passengers On A Bolivian Airplane Had Thrilling Trip

A remarkable story of adventure in the jungle is told by passengers of a Bolivian seaplane who arrived at Puerto Suarez, in the Bolivian Chaco, after awaiting rescue for about two weeks in Matto Grosso.

Six panthers were killed when they tried to attack the party of seven, four passengers and three of the crew. Other wild beasts and savage Indians also were menaces and watch had to be kept day and night against them.

The seven were in the seaplane Nemi, which was forced to land in a desolate part of Matto Grosso, on Bolivian soil. After several days it was located by Bolivian planes sent out to search for it and then a party of army aappers was started for the place.

These soldiers spent many arduous days cutting their way through the jungle. They finally found the plane in a swamp. Through the swamp they improvised a runway that enabled the Nemi to take off, after it had been repaired, and it made its way to Puerto Suarez.

The party was fed by the rescuers by approaching by supplies dropped to them by parachutes from planes that flew overhead. Camp beds as well as food were contributed in this fashion. Their vigil was also helped by the fact that their plane had been carrying a large shipment of beer. All of this was consumed.

The sappers who rescued the seven on the Bolivian plane had to penetrate some of the most difficult territory on earth. Most of the great Matto Grosso, which extends over a large part of Brazil and parts of Bolivia and Peru, has never been explored. It is cut up by rivers and swamps and the rank undergrowth and vines hanging from trees can be penetrated only by cutting a way through them. Only the luck of having found a large swampy landing probably saved the men on the Nemi.

Little Helps For This Week

Teach me Thy way O Lord, and lead me in a plain path. Psalm 27:2.

Lead kindly Light amid the encircling gloom,
Lead Thou me on;
The night is dark, and I am far
Lead Thou me on;
Lead Thou me on;
Keep Thou my feet, I do not know where I am,
The distant secret
Lead Thou me on.

God alone knows how to lead His children in the paths of holiness. He knows your character, its difficulties and hindrances. He knows exactly how each event, each trial or temptation will tell on you, and he disposes of all things accordingly. The consequence of this belief, if fully grasped, will influence your whole life. You will give yourself up to God more and more unreservedly, asking nothing, wishing nothing but what He wills, not seeking to bring things about for yourself but taking all He sends joyfully, and believe the one step set before you to be enough for you to take. You will be satisfied that even though the clouds are around you and your way seems dark he is directing all, and that seems a hindrance will prove a blessing since He wills it.

Artificial Fever Treatment

New Radio Set Used To Remedy Many Diseases

An improved radio set which can be used to remedy many diseases by artificial fever treatment was demonstrated to the annual meeting of the American College of Physicians at Detroit.

Similar sets have been used in the treatment of pneumonia, some forms of arthritis, syphilis, paralysis of the insane, and some forms of insanity.

The new machine, however, makes possible deeper penetrations of heat into the body with consequent additional beneficial effects. It can be set up interference with high-frequency radio broadcasting. It was explained.

Bridegroom: "And now, dear, that we are married, let us have a clear understanding about our affairs. Do you wish to be president or vice-president?"

FLEMING'S FOLLY

—BY— LAWRENCE A. KEATING

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

Roper Kilgo, the boss of the Rawhide and nearby ranges, who seemed to approve the plan, but was really opposed to it, had forced Buzz Torney, a derelict mining engineer, whom Kilgo knew would be called upon to give his expert opinion of the scheme, to reverse his earlier endorsement, and declare that irrigation in Boone county so far as Fleming's plan was concerned was only a new-fangled way to waste money.

The meeting, terminated, by Buzz Hamilton and his associates, Link and Kilgo sat behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan. The angry Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence his sister and, as he asserts, ruin his "spread". Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrolled fit of anger, but Buster Townsend, Link's foreman, is shot in the stomach and Fleming is uninjured. Buzz is arrested and sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties.

Fleming goes home and studies the plans drawn by Torney to learn whether they could be adapted to a smaller scheme suitable for his and Helen's land, and is satisfied it could be done. Feeling cold, he lights the fire and there is an explosion that wrecks the house, burns it and the plans and renders Link unconscious. Helen is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

Helen and Link ride to Rawhide for supplies and to obtain funds to carry out the dam project. They meet Roper, who greets Helen and offers to shop with her. Link goes to see the Sheriff, who tells him Hamilton has been paroled, and would arrive on the incoming stage, but that he thinks Link has made a mistake in getting Buzz released. (Now Go On With The Story)

"You mentioned a hundred an acre," Link tapped Pieper's bow knee. "I won't sell my share for less than two hundred an acre two years from now, and my whole Star Loop'll go away up in value. So'll the Triple H. If irrigation works other places, it'll work here. Now Otto, you're a man of vision, of foresight. That's why you're a success to-day, and we know it! Isn't that so, Helen?"

She came promptly to the rescue. "I've heard Father say many times how shrewd you are, Mr. Pieper. That's why Link and I always come to you. We could go to Sol Hastings over in Atlas, but he wouldn't grasp the bigness of this thing. We have confidence in the Stockmen's Bank. Why, everyone has!"

Instinctively Pieper thrust his thumbs into the armpoles of his vest. He started to lean back but remembered a box of cigars, and bent to open a drawer for them. Link accepted one and struck a match while Otto puffed. Smoking comfortably, he studied his visitors.

"How much is this thing to cost, do you say?"

"Oh, not much over twelve hundred."

The banker jerked forward in his chair, then settled back shaking his head. "You two should've been satisfied as it was. But no, you had to plaster mortgages and notes over
